

You can cut our wings, but we will always remember what it was like to fly.